SENIOR SAFETY

Question: I am worried about my elderly parents. They are still very independent and are not ready to move out of their home. Do you offer any products that can keep my mind at ease knowing my parents are living alone?

Answer: The issue of elderly parents can be very tough for many individuals. Some seniors are fully capable of living alone, however their loved ones do not feel comfortable letting these seniors live independently.

Rampart offers a companion alert system that can be used perfectly in this situation.

This system features an optional two-way communication device. When a distress signal is received a dispatcher can communicate directly with the person in distress and send the appropriate authorities.

We offer several types of buttons that can be used in the event of an emergency. Personal pendants are available as well as a waterproof arm bracelet which can be worn while bathing. This product even has the capability to monitor smoke alarms and carbon monoxide devices.

If you would like more information about our companion alert system, please call our office at 724-836-0900.

Solution:

24-HOUR PERSONAL EMERGENCY MONITORING SYSTEM

Loved ones can now feel comfortable having senior family members live independently with a new companion alert system provided by Rampart Security.

This 24-hour personal emergency monitoring system is a 2-way voice compatible communication device with our Central Station to determine what type of emergency response is needed.

Our companion system also features programmable panic buttons that will alert our Central Station to communicate what type of emergency is occurring. We offer several types of panic buttons which include a necklace pendant as well as a waterproof bracelet that can be worn while bathing. Smoke and carbon monoxide detection can be integrated into this system in addition to the panic alerts.
